The Molloy College Annual Blood Drive

Molloy College will be sponsoring a Blood Drive on November 1 and 2, 2006 from 10:30 a.m.—6:00 p.m. on the Molloy College campus. On November 1st those wishing to donate blood can come to the Blood Services Van which will be parked outside the Wilbur Arts Center. On November 2nd, the Blood Drive will be held upstairs in the Multipurpose Room in the Wilbur Arts Center.

“Right now there is a critical shortage of blood,” states Deb Heineman, Director of Campus Life. “We usually hold our Blood Drive at this time of year to prepare for the shortage that typically occurs during the holidays. This year the shortage has happened earlier. We are asking people to donate blood to help others that need blood now.”

All students, faculty, administrators, and employees of the College are encouraged to donate blood during the Fall Blood Drive. Members of the community are also invited to donate and help save a life.
