Molloy College Presents Men in Nursing Panel

Molloy College, Division of Nursing will present a program on "Men in Nursing" in the Multi-Purpose Room in Wilbur Arts Center on February 20, 2008 at 7 p.m. The program will feature a panel of distinguished men in the nursing profession. Each of the panelists has been recognized for the varied and valuable roles they play and their commitment to the profession. This is an excellent opportunity to see and hear how men have assumed and advanced their individual professional roles and contributed to the profession. Panelists include:

- Patrick Bourke, BS, RN
Staff Nurse
Burn and Intensive Care Unit
New York Presbyterian-Cornell Hospital
- Edward Moriarty, MSN, RN
Public Health Nurse
Visiting Nurse Service of New York
- David Reed, BS, RN
Critical Care Nurse
Winthrop University Hospital
- William Daniel Roberts, DNSc, ACNP-BC
Director of Master's Programs
Adelphi University, School of Nursing

The panel will share their experiences, professional activities, and thoughts on nursing. Their perspectives will be both interesting and informative, and may help maximize student activities, and assist in developing professional goals and aspirations. Each of the men will present personal experiences in the profession, followed by questions and discussion. The session will provide a venue for informal interaction, support, and motivation. Any male nurse interested in attending this information session can do so by registering with Kelly Miller, Division of Nursing at 516.678.5000 ext. 6257.
